Young Ladies' Lyceum of the Wesleyan
Female College.

We availed ourselves of an opportunity last evening to be present at the meeting of the Young Ladies' Lyceum of the Wesleyan Female College. The chapel of the College was filled with ladies and gentlemen, who seemed as eager to catch every word and note as ourselves. Their quietude throughout betokened their interest in the proceeding.

We understand the Lyceum is not inaugurated as a part of the regulars of the College, but gotten up through a spirit of intellectual progress on the part of the Young Ladies of the institution. Though under the auspices and with the approbation of the teachers.

If the young ladies in other cities and at other institutions were actuated by the same spirit and would emulate the example here given, we could confidently predict a rapid decrease in the number of useless "fashion-displays" that a large majority of the modern young ladies make of themselves.

The proceedings last evening were interspersed with most delightful music, under the direction of Professor H. SMITH; during which Professor WORKMAN introduced his antique instrument, composed of fine sticks, without a name, or such an one as we dare not attempt to utter; and played, with delicate variations a favorite and familiar air.

The meeting opened with a chorus by twenty-one young ladies, after which Mrs. WILSON, the President, read a brief dissertation.

The first essay by Miss CAMILLA HEMINGWAY, of Covington, upon "Life's Morning Land," was read with distinctness, utterance, emphasis and effective intonation. The subject being somewhat new her remarks were less characterized by similarity to every day subjects than is common in such productions. We can speak of her essay in no wise but with praise.

Essay second, by Miss ANNA BRUCE, of Cincinnati. Subject, "The Literature of Scotland." She acquitted herself with honor and great credit, in handling a subject so factious and sublime; one that Hon. EDWARD EVERETT might exhaust his modicum of words and the work then not half done.

The fourth essay, by Miss SALLIE O'NEAL, of Ghent, Ky., was the one to which we inclined our ears with the strictest attention. She spoke excellently well and the subject, "The Actual Words of Modern Science," was one, we should judge, admirably adapted to her style of composition. It was rife with noble ideas and original conceptions. We were delighted.

"The World's Mightiest Men, its Self-Denying Men," was the selection by Miss ELLEN VAN MATRE, of Cincinnati. She introduced many striking examples of self-denial, including some men of one day and some of those that have passed away; the object and moral of which was to teach us that no great work could be accomplished without great self-denial. She read well.

The question for discussion for the evening was, "Is the past in human affairs a measure of the future." Miss ISABELLA WATMAN, of Cambridge City, Ind., on the affirmative, stated the question anticipated, and the probable objections, and set forth her argument in a forcible manner.

Miss EMMA SHERON, of Covington, Ky., was quite pointed in her deductions, and her arguments were substantial. She introduced many interesting illustrations of the age of steam, predicting the result would be that of lightning. It was a very able defense. We incline to the opinion, with all due gallantry to Miss WATMAN, that Miss SHERON gained the negative in the minds of the hearers.

After the reading of an interesting communication from abroad, by the President, the meeting closed with music most exquisitely rendered.

We came away happier than we went, and considerably edified. We wish the praiseworthy Lyceum God-speed.

The News.

The telegraphic column is interesting this morning.

We have important matters from Washington. Great Britain claims San Juan Island. Secretary CASS says she can't have it. What will be done?

President BUCHANAN is going to sue FORNEY, of the Philadelphia Press, for libel.

The Star of the West, with the California mails and treasure, is disabled and will not arrive at New York before Sunday.

The Quaker City is safe and has arrived at Hampton Roads.

The City of Manchester brings one day later news from Europe. The London Times is rampant on the San Juan question. Keep a little cool, Mr. Time man.

Republican ticket nominated in Kansas.

Additional election returns, &c.

Mexico.

A later dispatch from Mexico apprises us that, in taking the field for the ensuing campaign, MIRAMON disregards the Liberal menace the capital at the North, and directs his first efforts to the capture of Alvarado. Coupled with the active preparations of Gen. ALVAREZ for a march on the city of Mexico, it may be inferred that it is from the Phil chief the conservatives anticipate the stroke of fate, and only hope to evade it by a movement to the South.

Bishop Onderdonk and the Episcopal Convention.

The lay delegates to the Diocesan Convention from Flushing, L. I., have published a remonstrance against the restoration of Bishop OBERDONK. They refer to the testimony given against the Bishop by a lady of Flushing, now deceased, and declare that the removal of the sentence would be an act to gratify the Bishop's pride, at the expense of sacred feeling and just right.

JOHN MORRISSEY accepts the challenge of JOHN C. HERRAN to fight him for $10,000. MORRISSEY names four or six months after HERRAN's match with SAYER. Go it, ye bruiers!

From Washington.

Washington, October 13.
No action has yet been taken by the Administration in response to any communication which may have recently been received from the British Government on the San Juan difficulty.

An extraordinary meeting of the Cabinet was called to-day. All the members were present excepting Secretary Cass, who was absent on account of physical indisposition. The reasons for leaving Brownsville without troops are, as stated by the army officer, the unhealthiness of the post and the belief that there was no necessity for their presence as a means of protection, and beside, their services were urgently needed elsewhere in Texas. But since their withdrawal, in addition to the recent invasion by Mexican banditti, the Indians have committed many excesses on the settlements of the Rio Grande frontier. By this time it is believed that troops have been sent thither to protect our citizens.

The Treasury Department has been officially advised by the Secretary of State that by the order of the Spanish Government, vessels from the United States arriving in the ports of Spain and the adjacent islands, are placed on the footing of national vessels as regards the duties of port and navigation. In consideration of this exemption, Spanish vessels arriving in the ports of the United States from Spanish or other foreign ports will be permitted to enter on the same footing with vessels of the United States as regards tonnage duties, light money, and all other duties to the United States so far as respects the vessels.

Spanish vessels, however, arriving in ports of the United States from Cuba or Porto Rico, not being embraced in the foreign regulations, are especially provided for by the acts of July 1832 and June 1834.

Gen. Twiggs, in charge of the Department of Texas, will, at his own request, be granted a leave of absence with the view to enable him to visit Europe.

The receipts of the Treasury for the week ending on Monday amounted to $1,130,000; drafts paid $1,280,000; drafts issued nearly $1,542,000. The amount subject to draft is $4,570,000. The reduction from the amount on hand the previous week is $405,777.

The Secretary of the Treasury, on appeal, has decided that Mink skins are dutiable 5 percentum.

Safety of the Quaker City.

New York, October 13.
The Quaker City arrived in Hampton Roads at 7 1/2 o'clock last evening, in tow of the steamer State of Georgia.

The following is Capt. Shuffeldt's statement: "The engine was smashed when the steamer was thirty-six hours out from New York, and thirty-eight miles S. E. of Cape Hatteras. After separating from the bark Dumbarton on the 7th, the Quaker City made her way northeast under canvas. At six o'clock in the afternoon of the 9th, she was in lat. 36.58, lon. 74.22, one hundred and thirty miles from the first point; a steamer bound south passed without noticing our signals of distress or the firing of our guns, although she was apparently near enough for both. At 6 1/2 P. M. the schooner King Fisher, of New York, the name of whose Captain is unknown, boy and crew, for us, and with the true characteristic of seamen, hailed us and said she would stick by us to the last, which was faithfully performed. The brig Lena, of Alexandria, Va., also answered our signals, and laid by us until she was sent in search of a steamer. At 7 o'clock in the evening, a gale from the northward of great force struck the ship, when she laid by for us, and, behaving admirably for forty-eight hours. During this time it became necessary to heave overboard her deck freight. At noon on the 11th, the gale having abated, and while in lat. 36.36, lon. 74.22, she was taken in tow by the King Fisher, and aided by her own sails, succeeded in sailing twenty miles westward, when at mid-night the State of Georgia ran down and took us in tow, being fifty miles north-east of Cape Henry."

Capt. Shuffeldt desires to publicly thank the Captains of the Dumbarton, King Fisher, Lena and State of Georgia, for the prompt and cheerful manner in which their assistance was rendered, and without intending to discriminate, wishes particularly to express his gratitude to the Captain of the King Fisher. He is also grateful to the passengers for their cordiality toward himself and crew, and for their perfect quiet and coolness during the accident.

Washington Correspondence.

New York, October 13.

The Washington correspondence of the Times says: "It is not true as stated in the dispatch to the Herald, that England has demanded the explanation from our Government with reference to the course pursued by General Harney. On the contrary, the paper submitted by Lord Lyons, was a proposition for a settlement of the dispute, as the treaty provides no remedy in case of a disagreement between the Boundary Commissioners. The treaty being thus exhausted, the parties are thrown back on first principles, and England now submits a proposition for an adjustment of the difficulty in the claims of the Island of San Juan, which the claims of the difficulty in the Secretary Cass has just returned his reply to this proposition, declining in the most positive terms to recognize so much as the shadow of a title on the part of England to the disputed Island. This is the present condition of the question, and it remains for England to take the next step, as we hold possession. The turn in affairs is regarded as very serious by our Government, and the result, whether it be peace or war, depends entirely upon the tenacity with which Great Britain holds to her pretended claim."

The International Cricket Match.

Philadelphia, October 13.
All England finished their first innings this morning. Total 126 runs.

American's second innings—6 wickets down, 12 runs.

The Match was finished this afternoon in favor of All England on their second innings with a loss of 3 wickets. The twenty-two batsmen of the English side scored 220 runs, making a total on both innings of 154, of which the twelve English players on the American side scored 66 runs, and the ten Americans scored 82 runs. England sent in Hayward and Carpenter. Hayward was caught out with nothing to score. Carpenter, with Coffey, Lockyer and Grundy succeeded in covering the tie with 22 runs before five o'clock. Carpenter was admirably caught out by Barclay, when the ball was nearly over the ring.

THE FASHIONS.—The fall fashions have set in with all their severity. There is one thing, however, to recommend them; they are extremely simple and very easily followed. For ladies' bonnets the dominant tone, as our friend Genio would say, is black. There must be plenty of black trimming, and any other color may be mixed with it to suit the convenience or the taste of the individual. Black and blue, black and yellow, or black and green; but the tendency is to black and red. All the ladies, bless 'em! appear to have gone into mourning. As for the men, or "gentlemen," as the tailor calls us, the ugliest and commonest material possible is the most fashionable for trousers; we mean that forked article of male attire known among sewing women and journeymen tailors as "pants." Any kind of coarse and hideous stuff which a cart-horse would object to having on his back is the thing for trousers.—N. Y. Courier.
